

116 AIR SUPPORT OPERATIONS SQUADRON

MISSION

Providing Joint Terminal Attack Controllers who support two ARNG Brigades and one Division, the 116 ASOS acts as the furthest extension of Air Force influence on the Army's battlefield. Members also train to deploy into combat with Special Operations teams. These Tactical Air Control Party members are close air support experts, advising ground commanders on the use of Air Force assets in combat. JTACs serve as forward air controllers, winning battles by guiding weapons onto target.
