

123rd OPERATIONS SUPPORT FLIGHT

LINEAGE

STATIONS

Louisville, KY

ASSIGNMENTS

COMMANDERS

Lieutenant Colonel Greg Hamilton

Lieutenant Colonel Mark Heiniger

HONORS

Service Streamers

Campaign Streamers

Armed Forces Expeditionary Streamers

Decorations

EMBLEM

EMBLEM SIGNIFICANCE

MOTTO

NICKNAME

OPERATIONS

123 OSF Operation Enduring Freedom Dec 04-Mar 05 1 Southwest Asia

123 OSF Operation Enduring Freedom Jan-Jul 05 1 Southwest Asia

123 OSF Operation Enduring Freedom Jan 05- 1 Southwest Asia

123 OSF Operation Enduring Freedom Jan-May 05 1 Southwest Asia

123 OSF Aerospace Expeditionary Force Aug-Oct 05 3 Shaw AFB - Weather Support

The Kentucky Air National Guard's 123rd Operations Support Flight in Louisville recently became a squadron. "Thank you sincerely for the challenges that you've faced in the past, for the work you accomplish today, and for the obstacles that you will overcome in the future," said Lt. Col.

Matthew Groves, commander of the new 123rd Operations Support Squadron, at the redesignation ceremony. The squadron is part of the 123rd Airlift Wing that operates C-130H transports. The flight, which performed functions like intelligence analysis, is one of more than 40 that the Air National Guard is converting to a squadron. The latter is typically larger and usually exercises more administrative control. The ceremony took place in late November, according to the wing's Jan. 2 release. 2014

---

Air Force Order of Battle

Created: 26 Dec 2010

Updated:

Sources