EMBLEM

On a disc Azure in chief two flight symbols fesswise in bend each party per fess Argent and Sable each emitting three speed lines of the second between the towers of a stylized suspension bridge arraswise of the like garnished Celeste and Sable. In base a globe of the fourth gridlined Gules surmounted by three lightning bolts Or, one in pale and two in saltire, all within a diminished border Yellow. Attached above the disc, a Blue scroll edged with a narrow Yellow border and inscribed "127TH COMMUNICATIONS SQUADRON" in Yellow letters. Attached below the disc, a Blue scroll edged with a narrow Yellow border and inscribed "BRIDGING THE COMMUNICATION GAP" in Yellow letters.

EMBLEM SIGNIFICANCE

Ultramarine blue and Air Force yellow are the Air Force colors. Blue alludes to the sky, the primary theater of Air Force operations. Yellow refers to the sun and the excellence required of Air Force personnel. The six points of the three lightning bolts represent the six duty sections of the Squadron and the unit's ability to work together to provide worldwide communications support, indicated by the globe, to the Air Force mission. The bridge symbolizes the support and linking of two geographically separated entities. The aircraft, coupled with the bridge, emphasizes the unit's ability to "bridge the communication gap" in support of the Air Force's primary mission of air operations.
