

301st ARMAMENT AND ELECTRONICS MAINTENANCE SQUADRON

MISSION

The mission of the squadron is to maintain all armament and electronic equipment on aircraft assigned to the wing in a state of readiness that will permit the wing to conduct bombardment operations in any location of the globe at any time. This includes flight line, periodic and field maintenance of the bombing, gunnery, navigational, weapons release, camera and autopilot systems. In addition, the squadron has certain parent unit responsibilities, such as the maintenance of A&E equipment on transient aircraft.
