

375th MEDICAL OPERATIONS SQUADRON

MISSION

The 375th Medical Operations Squadron provides comprehensive primary care and limited referral and space-available subspecialty care to TRICARE-enrolled patients at the medical group. The squadron also has responsibility for the Family Medicine Training Program, which is a joint civilian-military residency program sponsored by the Saint Louis University School of Medicine Family Practice Program. The squadron is comprised of six flights: Scott Family Health Clinic, Belleville Family Medicine Clinic, Medical Specialties Services, Mental Health, Physical Therapy and Chiropractic, and Obstetrics and Gynecology. They have a combined strength of nearly 400 assigned personnel. Available services include: allergy, cardiology, dermatology, family advocacy, family medicine, immunization, mental health, pediatrics, primary care and substance abuse counseling. Combined, these clinics average more than 12,000 patient visits per month totaling approximately 144,000 visits per year.
