EMBLEM

On a disc Azure, below in chief three mullets arced one in dexter, one in sinister chief, and one in sinister all Or, a demi-globe issuant from base Azure, gridlined Argent, environed by a lightning bolt arcing from dexter terminating in sinister base of the last, fimbriated Gules, all within a narrow border Blue. Attached below the disc, a Yellow scroll edged with a narrow Blue border and inscribed "412TH COMMUNICATIONS SQ" in Blue letters. Attached above the disc, a Yellow scroll edged with a narrow

Blue border and inscribed "IT CAN BE DONE" in Blue letters. SIGNIFICANCE: Ultramarine blue and Air Force yellow are the Air Force colors. Blue alludes to the sky, the primary theater of Air Force operations. Yellow refers to the sun and the excellence required of Air Force personnel. The stars represent the Squadron's fierce determination and loyalty and the unit's contributions to the Air Force's air, space and cyberspace missions. The lightning bolt represents test vehicles in flight in addition to communication links and information technology supporting them. The globe signifies Earth today and new planets in the future (today's mission and a vision of tomorrow). The swiftness and power of the unit in delivering support is reflected in the unit's motto, "IT CAN BE DONE."
