The spider, a persistent and tireless worker, represents the spirit of this organization. The numerous arms and legs of the spider show the ever present need for many skilled and willing hands to accomplish the thousands of varied jobs that are required of the squadron. The many types of repair functions are shown by the assortment of tools held in the spiders hands. The heavy bomber, a Flying Fortress, in the background shows the type of aircraft the organization specializes in. The four legs and the four arms of the spider signify the first two digits in the squadrons designation and the 8 of them together stand for the Eighth Air Force.
