

611th AIR COMMUNICATIONS SQUADRON

MISSION

The 611 Air Communications Squadron serves as the focal point for all command, control, communications, and computers (C4) support for ANR and 11 AF. Key functions include theater long-haul communications, radar systems communications, circuit management, network operations and configuration control. Additionally, the unit performs Meteorological Navigational (METNAV) certifications for airfields throughout the theater, as well as Defense Red Switch Network, Communications Security (COMSEC) and frequency spectrum management support. In addition to providing communications planning and programming support to the three O&M contracts, the 611 ACOMS also manages $22 million in communications requirements. The 611 ACOMS also provides direct communications support to the 611 AOC – 24/7 battle staff crisis action operation center.

Attached above the disk, a Blue scroll edged with a narrow White border and inscribed "COMMUNICATING ACROSS THE NORTH" in White letters. Attached below the disk, a Blue scroll edged with a narrow White border and inscribed "611TH AIR COMMUNICATIONS SQ" in White letters. SIGNIFICANCE: Ultramarine blue and Air Force yellow are the Air Force colors. Blue alludes to the sky, the primary theater of Air Force operations. Yellow refers to the sun and the excellence required of Air Force personnel. The stars symbolize the unit's mission goals and ambitions they strive to achieve every day. The mountains are representative of the barriers and hurdles that stand in the path of the unit's mission. The communication symbol (gauntlet and lightning) represents the mission and responsibilities the Squadron completes for the defense of the Alaska Region.
