

77th COMMUNICATIONS SQUADRON

MISSION

The 77th Communications Squadron is one of the few such squadrons with a truly global mission. Squadron personnel provide intermediate and depot-level repair of transportable terminals for the Defense Meteorological Satellite Program (DMSP) in support of Air Force and Marine Corps systems worldwide. They also perform long haul communications missions on behalf of the Department of Defense and provide direct communications support for Presidential and other VIP aircraft. At McClellan, the unit provides record and voice communications, airfield communication and navigation systems maintenance, and computer systems management.
