Unlike the other Mariana Islands, which between 1947 and 1986 were administered by the United States under a UN Trusteeship and which in November 1986 became part of the United States as the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam is a self-governed US possession administered under the general supervision of the Secretary of the Interior. Guamanians were granted citizenship in August 1950, but have no vote in US presidential elections. The Headquarters, Guam ANG, was activated at Agana on 21 July 1981, and, at the end of FY92, the Guam ANG had 170 officers and enlisted personnel to man five non-flying units.
